B, an individual, exchanged 100 shares of common stock and a security in the principal amount of $1,000 for 300 shares of common stock and a security in the principal amount of $1,500. The security had a fair market value on the date of receipt of $1,575. The fair market value of the excess principal amount, or $575, is treated as "other property." (The example in the regulation indicates that the excess principal amount should be $525, but this appears to be a typo.)
